Sally Kimpton

Sally Kimpton delights with stand-up that's clever, edgy and hilarious!

Sally has performed at the Melbourne International Comedy Festival in 'Extreme Blonde', followed by her one woman show 'Sally Kimpton - MyStar' at the Sydney Comedy Festival.

She has appeared on and written material for national radio programmes, including on Triple J and Triple M.

Sally's TV appearances include The Comedy Channel's 'Headliners' and 'Stand-up Australia'. She was a quarter finalist in NBC's 'Last Comic Standing' filmed at the Miami Improv in 2008. She has also been spotted on Network TEN's 'Thursday Night Live' and Channel 7's 'Today Tonight' (don't ask!)

In June 2012 Sally was invited to perform with Rove McManus and Wil Anderson in an Aussie comedy showcase in Los Angeles.

Sally specialises as a Master of Ceremonies, Acts in Television and Film Productions and is finalising details for her first comedy book.

A popular Headliner and a skilled MC, She has been making them laugh at fine, and not so fine comedy venues nationally and internationally for over 15 years!

CJ Delling

CJ is a comedian, cartoonist, podcaster and maker of stuff for the easily amused.

German-born and Sydney-dwelling CJ has entertained audiences at corporate events and in comedy clubs in Australia, Germany, Scotland, Canada and the US with her charming, cheerful and quirky style of stand-up comedy.

She has performed solo stand-up shows at the Melbourne International Comedy Festival, Adelaide Fringe Festival and Sydney Fringe Festival. In 2016, CJ will take her fifth solo show 'CJ Delling - Best Bits' to Perth, Melbourne and Sydney.

On her comedy podcast Under the News Desk, CJ and a guest comedian chat about one inconsequential news item of the week.

Sean Morahan

Sean is a comedian and writer, physically based in Sydney and mentally based nowhere in particular.

Jaded by the unrelenting and excruciating highs of working as a car salesman, private investigator and builder's labourer, Sean yearned for the sombre drudgery of making people laugh for a living, without offering them a trade-in price, showing them photos of their spouse's new lover or falling off a building site.

So, in 2013 he staggered onto Australia's comedy stages and has remained there despite the persistent crowbars, baseball bats and the pleas for him to go home.

★★★★★ - Cumulative star rating from 5 different reviews*

He has performed at the Melbourne International Comedy Festival, Adelaide Fringe Festival and Sydney Fringe Festival. He put this whole '10 Comedians for $10' thing together and he drinks James Squires or Tooheys New. Just sayin'.

Ruven Govender

No stranger to the stage, Ruven Govender was picked up by the NZ Comedy Festival at the age of 16. Initially starting out as a comedian, he quickly progressed, developing a taste for producing and directing shows.

By the age of 21 Ruven had written, produced and directed over 5 shows in the NZ International Comedy Festival. In addition to comedy, Ruven has had regular TV appearances.

Currently, Ruven runs several comedy rooms in Sydney alongside his comedic colleagues in their comedy promotions business Laugh Mob.

Ruven recently accepted an invitation to present at TEDx at Macquarie University.

Ray Cashman

Ray Cashman has been performing his brand of charming observational comedy for the past 7 years.

Ray has performed internationally, interstate and even in a public toilet. Please don't take that last venue as an indication of the quality of his comedy.

His wife thinks he has a fat head but that's where he stores all his funny.

Thao Thanh Cao

Originally from a theatre background having studied a Bachelor of Arts (Theatre Theory and Practice) Thao originally wanted to be an actress but was disheartened because she didn't see many Asians on TV and the few Asians she did see on TV appeared on Border Security.

Most people would agree that Thao's comedy is dry, self deprecating and often politically incorrect. Well, they would if they weren't so busy laughing.

During 2015, Thao won three comedy awards, and she has been touring the country with her first Solo show, Appropriately Inappropriate.

As well as performing all over Sydney, Newcastle, Canberra and has also performed at The Adelaide Fringe Festival and The Melbourne International Comedy Festival.

Utilising her acting skills and her public speaking skills she has quickly become a refreshing new voice hitting the comedy scene taking the PC out of stand-uP Comedy!

Ben Willshaw

Ben Willshaw is a Western Sydney comedian who has grown up on the sunny streets of Penny Bay or, as pronounced by the locals in their native tongue, Penriff! Ben has been performing comedy for over 2 years and has made a big impact performing at Sydney's leading comedy venues.

In 2015 Ben wrote and performed his first solo show 'Sticks & Stones' and in a great indicator of the appeal of his comedy, the show sold out during its run at the Sydney Fringe Festival.

Ben's humour consists of self-deprecating comedy (and sometimes a bit of audience-deprecating comedy) along with over-the-top stories about events and experiences in his day to day life. Ben also likes to add a touch of crude humour to his material to cater to the inner westie in all of us, resulting in audience members laughing at topics that would normally be left unsaid.

When not performing at Sydney's premier comedy venues, Ben also performs at charity events and weddings as an MC.

David Tieck

David Tieck is an author and a comedian. He has been performing stand-up/ improv and sketch comedy around the world for the past seven years.

He has performed in countless shows all over North America, he appeared on Jay Leno's 'Tonight Show' and in Australia David has performed solo Improv shows at the Adelaide Fringe and Sydney Fringe.

David co-runs Crown Comedy in Parramatta on Monday nights where he can be seen doing all sorts of improvised experimental weirdness.

He can be found on all the social media platforms under David Tieck, at fleetingforever.com, or in random people's front yards playing with their cats.

Justin Jones

Justin Jones is a Sydney-based stand-up comedian.

Born in Perth, raised in Queensland and matured in Melbourne, Justin is an outcast no matter where he goes, which underpins his hilariously skewed perspective on the world around him as he tells tales of love, loss, and life through the twisted lens of over-confident self-doubt.

In the two years he has been performing, he has already notched up over 100 gigs, including his first solo shows in the 2015 Sydney Fringe Festival, #Porky4PM

As well as performing comedy, Justin co-runs a free open mic comedy room: Crown Comedy in Parramatta every Monday.

Twitter: twitter.com/Porky4PM

Sallie Don

Sallie is a comedian, actor and writer based in Sydney.

As well as gigging throughout venues in Sydney, she has starred in a few dodgy web-series. You might also see her in some commercials from time-to-time advertising things like soup and insurance.

Sallie is also a regular guest on ABC Local Radio Evenings program.

Rob Andrews

Living as a big man in a health conscious world isn't easy. Laugh along as Rob Andrews takes you through his life as a portly teacher, husband and father.

With an agile wit, if not an agile body, Rob will have you laughing at a range of problems and situations faced by those with multiple children and multiple chins.

Rob started entertaining on radio in 2012, hosting a late night show on Blacktown community radio station SWRFM before discovering a love of live performing.

In his debut year of comedy, he won the Grand Final of a prominent Sydney competition and has since placed in several others and lost miserably in several more.

Rob is a favourite with parents, professionals, young people, elderly gents and fast food retailers everywhere.

Mitch Garling

Mitch is a 2015 & 2016 NSW Raw Comedy State Finalist and an accomplished Emcee. He has performed at both Adelaide and Sydney Fringe Festivals and is a regular face around the Sydney and Newcastle stand up comedy scene.

His humour and hilarity have earned him successful runs at the world famous Sydney Comedy Store!

In 2015 he opened for the NSW tour of Bogan Song Cycle and Emcee'd the Real Film Festival for the second consecutive year.

Matty B

Newcastle bred comedian Matty B is rising up the ranks of Australian comedy as he forges a reputation as a brilliant joke writer and unique performer.

He has had a hugely successful debut album, performed at The Melbourne International Comedy Festival, Sydney Comedy Festival and The Adelaide Fringe Festival as well as becoming a staple on the national club circuit, headlining and hosting across the country.

His most recent show, Flanno Worries received critical acclaim and has been described as 'uniquely esoteric' and 'brilliant alternative art expertly performed.'

Peter Meisel

Peter makes people laugh either through his unique sense of humour or by appearing naked in his bedroom. We were genuinely thrilled when Peter accepted the invitation to join our line-up because every time we see him perform, he has us in puddles of laughter.

Indicative of how well-regarded Peter is on the comedy scene, he has performed as the opening act for: Robin Williams (U.S.A), Carl Barron, Akmal Saleh, Will Anderson, Peter Berner, Tahir (Habib from 'Fat Pizza') Bilgic, Emmy Winner Rich Hall (U.S.A.), Arj Barker (U.S.A.), the Umbilical Brothers, Vince Sorrenti, Elliot Goblet, Austen Tayshus and George Smilovici.

Peter's comedy has been featured as part of the QANTAS in-flight video program. His TV appearances include the Midday Show, Good News Week, So You Want to Be a Stand Up Comic, Mornings with Kerri-Anne, Pizza, That Was the News, What's Good For You, Stand Up Australia and Best of Stand Up Australia.

His comedy versatility also extends to radio, including: The Dazz and Gazz Radio Show on TV Christmas Special, Triple M's Dolphin Juice, Big Trev's Radio Program on 99.7 FM and as co-host of Friday drive time on 99.3 FM.

Now you know him, watch out for Peter next time you see these movies: The Three Stooges (2000), Moulin Rouge (2000), The Man Who Sued God (2001) and You Can't Stop the Murders (2003).

Peter's Awards Include:

Sept, 1995: Comic of the Year at Sami's Lebanese Restaurant.

Dec, 1995: Major prize winner in the Harold Park Comedy Hotel's Comic of the Year

Oct, 1999: Won heat in the Comedy Cellar Comic of the Year.

Oct, 2000 Finalist on TV Show Starstruck

2011: Finalist in Time Out Sydney's Favourite Comic

"I have seen Peter Meisel ... quite simply soar." - Demetrius Romeo, Revolver

"The brilliant comedian, Peter Meisel, warmed the crowd." - Sasparella, 3D World

"Peter is hysterically funny. If only he'd clean up his room." - Elsa Meisel, Peter's Mom

Suren Jayemanne

Recognised as one of Australia's most exciting emerging comedians by both Melbourne International Comedy Festival (The Comedy Zone, 2014) and Sydney Comedy Festival (FRESH,2015), Suren is definitely one to watch.

Suren began performing stand-up comedy in 2011, quickly impressing audiences with a style inspired by classic one-liner comedians such as Demetri Martin and Steven Wright. Suren was a Victorian finalist in triple J's RAW Comedy (Australia's largest comedy competition) in 2012 and 2013, becoming a regular performer in comedy rooms around Sydney and Melbourne.

In 2014, after 2 years performing in split bill shows at the Melbourne International Comedy Festival, Suren was hand-picked by directors of the festival to appear in the prestigious Comedy Zone, a showcase of five of the best new comics from around Australia. Suren's stand-up has been heard broadcast live on ABC 774 (Comedy Bites Gala) and triple J (Good Az Friday).

Suren has had a great 2015, performing his solo debut show "Eat Praline, Die" at Australia's major comedy festivals, Melbourne International Comedy Festival and Sydney Comedy Festival. At the latter, "Eat Praline, Die" was presented as part of the festival's FRESH program for showcasing the best emerging talent. "Eat Praline, Die" sold out shows across both festivals and received 4 STARS from Helen Razer in the Daily Review.

Suren is at once good natured and provocative, his irreverent manner representing a diverse and emerging voice in Australia.

"... a wonderful comedian whom I would like to see playing much bigger rooms immediately... fg hilarious" - The Daily Review

"He's charming and engaging, carefully blending the topical with the ridiculous." - SBS

"Jayemanne is a purveyor of truly magnificent puns..." - The Weekly Review

Chris Hook

After many years working as a tabloid showbiz reporter and interviewing the world's most famous comedians, newspaper journalist and theatre critic Chris Hook jumped on stage himself back in 2014.

Since then he's been balancing his work attending exclusive A-list opening nights at Sydney's biggest shows with spots on comedy stages all around town, from Manly to Parramatta and everywhere in between.

Chris's observational one-liners canvass a range of issues from the perils of age and the ever-mounting confusion it brings with it, through to the nature of manliness and the difficulties of giving up grog.

Inspired by the likes of Wil Anderson and Kitty Flanagan, Chris is both personable and personal, so if you've ever been a grownup or simply known a grownup, he's talking to you.

Kieran Daughton

Kieran Daughton has been a regular on the Sydney comedy scene ever since he started performing three years ago.

Already with a cult following for his cleverly awkward delivery style and hilarious revelations of the funny stuff hidden right in front of our noses, Kieran wows audiences with his odd outlook on life where he exposes life's ugly truths as if he was a 'stars without make up' issue of a tabloid magazine.

Kieran also hosts his own offbeat late night talk show parody on YouTube: 'Late Talk with Kieran Daughton'.

Kieran is a co-founder of Crown Comedy in Parramatta.

Claudia Rae

Claudia is a Sydney based comedian who has been hitting the comedy scene everywhere from Wollongong to Newcastle, including Sydney. Obviously.

Her style can be described as dry with killer wit, quirky and absurd at times. She talks about experiences she has had in life and observations with a twist, often incorporating some clever puns.

She tackles a variety of topics, finding the humour in anything. Whoever thought yellow capsicums could be funny? Claudia did.

In her first year of stand up comedy, she won the 2014 Super Grand Final of a prominent Sydney Comedy Competition.

She hits the punch lines of jokes just like she plays the drums - frequently and with excellent timing.

Nathan Lentern

Nathan Lentern is a writer and comedian based in Western Sydney who has appeared on Sunrise and in The Daily Telegraph.

Nathan began performing stand-up in 2012 and quickly impressed with his witty and amusing observations about Australian politics.

Nathan is an accomplished impressionist whose impression of former Prime Minister Kevin Rudd has been featured on stage, radio and television. He also performs regularly as former NSW Premier as Bob Carr, and current* federal Minister Christopher Pyne.

In 2014 Lentern launched the satirical website "The (un)Australian" which has since attracted praise from the likes of Wil Anderson, Peter Berner and, on one occasion, William Shatner. Lentern now serves as editor of The (un)Australian. In May 2016 he starred in The (un)Australian's first live show "Live and Libellous".

Gearard McGeown

Comedian, writer, performer Gearard McGeown is one of the emerging legends of the Sydney Comedy Scene. Twice Raw Comedy State Finalist (2013,2015) he was also hand picked to headline the Sydney Comedy Festival Breakout showcase in 2015.

Gearard has featured on FBI Radio, 2day FM, Triple J as well as appearing on ABC TV's The Checkout. He is a regular at the Sydney Comedy Store and has performed in Canberra, Adelaide, Brisbane and Perth, most recently taking part in the Secret Garden Festival and Brisbane Comedy Festival.

Twitter: twitter.com/GearardM

Ben Squires

For the last three years, Sydney-based writer and stand-up comedian Ben has performed his own unique brand of comedy to crowds that have been enraptured and confused in equal measure.

Ben is not afraid to deal with the big issues and has a range of material on topics as diverse as cockroaches and paying rents.

He's performed multiple times at the Sydney and Adelaide Fringe Festivals. A successful Raw Comedy Heat Participant (2014, 2016), Ben came runner up in the 2014 'Get Up Stand Up Keep Cup' competition at Sydney University, an educational institution he did not attend. Ben was also selected to perform as part of the Comedy on Edge Future Superstars of Comedy Showcase in 2015, and accordingly should hit his comedic peak in the year 2020.

Te Rina Taite

Young (sort of), funny (hopefully) Te Rina Taite returns from a stint across the ditch where she has reclaimed the Nu Zelund accent and an interesting theory on why they make the best neighbours.

Energetic and apologetic, Te will reveal why an ex-elite swimmer has found comedy to be the best way of washing away the sins of the past, and has no problem sharing them with you (generally).

Twitter: twitter.com/tetaite

Peter Green

One of the most experienced stand up comedians on the circuit, Peter Green first performed comedy in 1988 at the legendary "Comics In The Park" at the Harold Park Hotel. He has since told jokes at every major comedy venue in Australia and New Zealand.

Peter is also a very much in-demand comedy writer and he has written for some of Australia's best comedy shows including Australia's Funniest Home Videos and the TV Week Logies. He is a major contributor to satirical websites The (un) Australian and Bobvulture.

Peter placed equal first in the NSW final of JJJ RAW Comedy in 1998.

Alex Wasiel

Performing stand-up comedy since 2012, Alex Wasiel is a comedian, media lawyer and consummate dinner party guest. She has enjoyed sellout shows with her all-star all-girl troupe, Aggressively Helpful at the Adelaide Fringe, Sydney Comedy and Canberra Comedy Festivals.

She also won acclaim with her debut solo show at the Sydney Fringe Festival and 2014 Sydney Comedy Festival (at which she was included in the FRESH! program for best emerging comedy talent).

A 2013 RAW Comedy NSW Finalist and having featured in the acclaimed web series "The Joke's On Me", Alex is now a regular performer and MC at comedy venues throughout Sydney, continuing to delight audiences with her unique effervescence and ridiculous face.

Andrew Marriott

Andrew Marriott is a comedian. He was born in Chicago and, as a teenager, moved to a small Mid-Western town, which to his shock, had made dancing and rock music illegal. But Andrew's rebellious spirit allowed him 'to kick off his Sunday shoes', abolish the ban and revitalise the soul of the repressed townspeople. Andrew is also competent at plagiarising the plot to the 1984 Kevin Bacon classic 'Footloose' for his bio.

Apart from comedy Andrew likes long walks on the beach, holding hands and Pokemon. He also works as a Family Lawyer, despite the fact he has never married, had children, owned substantial property or had a long term relationship. He did write an essay once on marriage - He got a low credit.

If he tickles your funny bone, tickle him back by commenting at:

Alex Veira

As a first generation Australian from a bilingual background, Alex Veira draws on his Spanish / South American / Housing Commission upbringing to deliver big laughs.

Aided by colourful characters, Alex brings his cheeky approach to observations of family life and modern parenting through the eyes of a Hispanic man in Australian society.

With a dubiously unique musical style of single-chord guitar playing and off-key vocals, you can also expect a catchy song or two for extra laughs.

Alex's light-hearted, endearing style of comedy has made him a crowd favourite.

Alex has also featured as a special guest at charity and corporate events.

Cait Johnson

Cait Johnson has tried to make people laugh in numerous public entertainment venues throughout Sydney.

She has done so for approximately four years with varying degrees of success.

Three-time nominee for Most Improved Comedian (Category: Female, age 25-30) and once described as a "comedian" in a festival review, she is bound to have you on the edge of your seat (with laughter).

Twitter: twitter.com/caitjohnso

Lee Reid

Lee Reid is a comedian from Western Sydney who is not afraid to see the funny side of being a Bogan.

Lee keeps his audiences on their toes with frequent, quick and clever changes of direction. If you don't know where this is headed, well relax because neither does Lee!

As a child Lee was known as the class clown, a label he took with pride up until he finally grew up and realised the he should have paid more attention in school. Now he does stand-up on the streets of Sydney for food and water. Sometimes at parties, sometimes on the street and sometimes in the men's bathroom for a private show. Still talking about stand-up comedy here people! Get your head out of the gutter.

Lee established R&R Comedy in Parramatta which created opportunities for dozens of up-and-coming Sydney comedians. With characteristic good humour, Lee continues to mentor other novice comedians.

Twitter: @LeeReidComedy

Christina Van Look

Christina Van Look burst onto the Sydney comedy scene six years ago and continues to delight audiences from Melbourne to New York, London and Toongabbie.

Her humour varies from hilariously self-deprecating to bitingly sardonic but her punchlines are delivered with a relaxed smile that makes her a favourite wherever she performs. Christina is renowned for her rapid-fire jokes about celebrities (Kim K would sue if she could actually understand the joke), parenting as a competitive sport and why you need to visit a sex shop at least once in your life.

She has spent an extended period performing comedy in New York where she recently performed at Gotham Comedy Club and the Comedy Cellar. She also featured on The Darren Sanders Show on Foxtel's Aurora.

"One of the funniest women in comedy".

Jasmine Reid

Sharp and engaging on stage, Blue Mountains local Jasmine Reid, has several years of comedy performances behind her.

She was selected for the new talent line-up for Sydney Fringe Festival's 'Short & Sharp' showcase in 2013.

Jasmine's style is deliciously dark, hilariously honest and sometimes tantalisingly tense as she shares her unusual perspectives, including making fun of her own depression and anxiety.

After creating and successfully managing a popular monthly comedy show in the Blue Mountains in 2015, Jasmine is now taking her own comedy more regularly to scary yet funny places (like Sydney)!

Great Scott!

With his unique mix of visual gags, impersonations, sharp one-liners and the occasional true story, Great Scott! has surprised and delighted audiences around the world.

Great Scott! (aka Scott Thomson) is a Sydney based comedian and has been performing stand-up comedy for 5 years. He started performing sketch based comedy, has appeared on several TV talent shows; most recently 'The Footy Show' and 'Australia's Got Talent'. He has performed in the UK (including the world-famous Edinburgh Fringe Festival), Ireland and locally in the Melbourne International Comedy Festival, Adelaide Fringe Festival and Sydney Fringe Festival.

Great Scott! also has a popular web comic on Facebook with over half a million fans: It's fb.com/idioms4idiots

Thank You

All of our comedians who work so hard to fill your night with funny.

Our great venue, for their hospitality and support of comedy.

And, most importantly, you our wonderful audiences!
